“ We remember Alex with loving memories, especially at Thanksgiving and Christmas get to gathers. She was a very sweet granddaughter.

We also remember with love the fun we had going to Branson in the Summer and how she and her brother Austin Williams, sister Sydney Williams had so much fun on all the rides and and the shows we went to.

Alex was our granddaughter by marriage but to my wife and I, she was always just as important and loved just as much as if she was blood related.

Words can never express how much she was loved or how much she will be missed. Stephanie, you gave birth to a wonderful young lady. We can't express in words how much she will be missed, all of our thoughts and prayers will be for you and Chris. She will be truly be missed! Gramma, and Grampa. GOD be with all of her family as you go through this terrible loss!!

“ Cecil and family,

Praying for all of you in the days and weeks to come. From the other comments left here, Alex was an amazing girl and loved by many. I feel for both of you--as a parent. We have been through really hard times, but we have never lost a child.

I pray that God give you the strength and peace that ONLY He can give!

“ Alex spent a lot of time at our house with my grand-daughter. She was a beautiful, sweet soul and a pure joy to be around! She always handled herself with calm and grace that you don't see a whole lot of in typical teenagers! We will miss her terribly in this house. We love you Alex, "Rest in Peace" sweet girl!

“ I am so sorry to hear about Alex going to heaven. We don't understand why these things happen, but God is in control. It has been a little over a year since Lauren went to heaven. It is not right for a parent to bury their child. I understand that pain and heartache of a parent losing their child. The only way I survive is by our Lord and Savior carrying me through this time. Keep your eyes and faith on the Lord to see you guys through this. Praying for your family.

“ I remember in the 8th grade I had Alex in my Career Orientation class and we used to always laugh and talk about random things and she would always have candy or food in her purse and pull it out at random times and we would bust out laughing. Once she got a comb and brushed her eyebrows with it and I just thought that was the funniest thing ever. I also had her in my 7th period P.E class in the 8th grade. Alex was a great friend and I could always count on her to be there for me when I needed someone or when times were tough. She will be sincerely missed and she may be gone but she will NEVER be forgotten. The family is in my thoughts and prayers daily.

“ She hung the sun, the moon, and the stars. I have been wrapped around her little finger since the first time I saw here. Things will never be the same, the sun and moon do not shine as bright. And I think the stars are a little crooked w/o her to hang them.

“ Cecil, mere words will never be enough to express my sorrow at the loss of your beautiful daughter. Your love for her was, and will continue to be, apparent for the whole world to see.

We will never understand Death until we arrive at its door. But we do understand the pain of loss. May your family come together closer to share that pain and work together in healing.

May the good memories the two of you shared comfort you during this time of loss. If you ever need an ear, you know where to find me or your awesome team of co-workers at Hendrix.

“ Accidentally coming upon the news of her death broke my heart. Alex was one of those who made my day light up in 8th grade science. She was a typical 8th grade girl. Charming, witty, beautiful and intelligent, but not always wanting to show it. She was a free spirit and is now free of this world. May her family have peace of mind.

“ To all Alex's Family & Friends
Just as the tide recedes but leaves behind bright seashells on the sand...
and
the sun goes down, but gentle warmth still lingers on the land...
Just as the music stops and yet it echoes in the mind...
with
These things God is telling us for every joy that passes something beautiful remains...
Like Alex's Loving memory is a beautiful thing that is left behind in your hearts and mind and will never fade....
I feel your grief but also feel the warmth in the love I am sending you...
