On that night God said "Angie why don't you come home" we know she was ready for that call They say "Heaven is a prepared place for prepared people" and she was prepared.

Angie is survived by her daughter Kinsey (Jackie) Blaylock of Birdtown Kinsey was her everything until Angie was blessed with three grand children that instantly became her angels Emmy, McKenna, and McCoy Blaylock of Birdtown She is also survived by her parents Quinton and Linda Pennington of Damascus Siblings Jeff (Sheila) Pennington of Damascus, Greg (Jennifer) Pennington of Bee Branch, and Lana (Kevin) Parish of Bee Branch.

She was preceded in death by a sister Janet Pennington.

Also a host of nephews and nieces and even great nephews and nieces.

She got much enjoyment from watching ball games of the grand children and nephews and nieces Early in life Angie knew she wanted to be a teacher and earned her degree from UCA in Early Childhood Education. She taught school for 31 years (all at South Side Bee Branch) and retired in 2016 As a teacher Angie touched many lives and made impacts on her students that will never be fully known If you were lucky enough to be assigned to her class you got a teacher who truly cared for her students both academically and personally. A Celebration of Life service will be held at 10:00 a.m. Friday June 12, 2026 at First Baptist Church of Center Ridge.

In lieu of flowers her family requestes donations to be made to St. Judes Childrens Research Hospital. A cause that was dear to her heart and one that she supported herself.

Angie was a very kind lady and did her best to make people feel good about themselves even when she herself was suffering She went out of her way to share her faith in God and to share her bright light and kindness to those who she crossed paths with. If you didn't get a chance to know Angie you missed out, but if you did know her you were truly blessed. Angie, we love you and will miss you. See you soon.
