“ I work at St. Anthony's Hospital in Morrilton. I only knew Ashley from work but I watched her fight for her life many times. She was so strong and always smiling. My thoughts and prayers go out to Jason and his family. I know how much you all meant to her by the way her face lit up when she said your names. I'm sorry for your loss. Her shining light will be missed.

“ I work at St. Anthony's and had the privilege of getting to meet Ashley there. Even though she was sick, she always had the biggest smile and positive attitude. She will be truly missed but never, ever forgotten. My thoughts and prayers go out to her family and friends.

“ Jason, Marilyn and all the family. I didn't know Ashley but felt I did by following her journey through you asking for prayer and posting how she was progressing. What was obvious is that she was a fighter and fought to the end. Although she didn't end winning her battle with cancer, she did win in the end, by entering the gates of heaven and rejoicing with our heavenly father. No more pain and suffering. Thank you for sharing her journey and also for the unselfish love and support you gave to her. I know she is smiling down at you all and that heaven certainly gained an angel.

“ My heart goes out for you guys I only knew her a short time but grew to love her and Jason. She will always be a miracle that I tell about including her fight with her illness. God pulled her thru so much with the help of Jason and his mother. I was just blessed enough to witness some of that and for that I am blessed. To be honest I would have to say she was one of the strongest young ladies that I have ever met. I am forever touched just by knowing her this short time. Please know you and yours are in my prayers.
