Back in the good old days we weren't good and we weren't old. I have texted two very long text and lost both(ugh!) All the way back to 2nd grade I was elected to play Queen Elizabeth and Charles, Prince Charles, my charming Prince in a little skit when The Queen Elizabeth was crowned 1952. Remember wearing a little green formal. Moving forward to jr. and sr. high we would "go steady" as it was called back then or maybe sweethearts, afterwards parting paths you met the love of your life, Suzy, had two children, many grands, n great-grandchildren. I was privileged to know his parents, and brother, Bill and know they had enough of God's love to go around and share it with the Church of Christ Orphanage and beyond. Charles and his dad spent many hours together working on that beautiful candy apple red 1955 Thunderbird with silver port holes. We went to school and back n loved it. Like Nancy Housely said so many times "Charles is always the life of the party" . I so wish I could have come to celebrate his life with Suzy, the love 💕 of his life Todd, Kelly n families , and friends he made on his journey through this life. I know he is having a Great celebration with the Great One Who loves us more than we can even imagine. My deepest sympathy and prayers are with those left behind knowing he's waiting for us all, 🙏💕 With Love Barbara Grant Ives.

“ Everyone keeps sharing all this good stuff about Mr. Charles. Well, I was his neighbor for 20 years, and I caught him in a lie, so I think that I should set the story straight. I was outside and had just cranked up my Skill Saw, when along came Mr. Charles. If you wanted to see Mr. Charles, the sound of power tools was a Siren Song that drew him quickly to your garage. He commenced to telling me a story, and then said, "To make a long story short..." Well, that story went on for another 30 minutes. He LIED! He never shared a short story! Oh, how I'll miss those stories! I'm sure he will have new ones to share with me when I see him again on the other side! Love and prayers to the family. I've been touched by his friendship in so many ways.

“ Dear Suzy, Todd, Kelli and all grandchildren and relatives, I am praying for you all in the loss of a wonderful Christian friend and leader in our community. My family loved Charles and all of you. We are so saddened at his passing. Dad, Dr. Biggs, loved singing and playing with Charles. He treated Dad with such care and love, even salting his stairs so he wouldn't slip on the ice. Charles made everyone feel better just by being in his presence. God bless you all. Charlotte Biggs McDowell

“ Charles was one of the most joyful, fun loving, people person individual I ever knew. He loved God and his family and friends and always made those around him feel extra special. It was said of my dad that he was a man that was great but didn't know it. By that meaning he was humble and admired by all who knew him. So many memories surface in our minds as we recall all the craziness of living in a small town. Our class of 1963 was always close and we enjoyed our High School days together. Watermelon patches come to mind and I recall us putting someone in the trunk of the car and let a arm hang out with catsup on it so the car behind us would think it was a dead body. We were harmless and never did bad stuff, just joking around. Charles was a classic at thinking up crazy stuff to do. He continued that into adulthood when I was at work at Presley's one night and out in the entrance. This perfect stranger came in and came up to me with a big loud greeting of "Well, Brenda Crawford, how on earth are you. Remember me? Of course everyone out there was watching. I guess I had the look of ????surprise and who is this guy I had never seen before. He kept acting like we knew one another. All of a sudden, Charles comes through the door cracking up laughing. He was hysterical and kept saying, "i wish you could have seen your face". Oh, Charles, you spread joy and laughter everywhere you went. You and Suzy are one of those made in heaven marriages and always "glued at the hip" as they say. I know you will be missed by your family. I admired how much time you spent with your family. Those Grands are really going to miss you. You are one of God's beautiful people and we know that we will all be reunited in heaven someday. When we get there we will all expect that big Charles Session HUG. You are precious to God and to us. Thanks for the blessing of being such a dear, dear friend, buddy, and brother in Christ. I love you, Brenda Crawford

“ *We were saddened to hear of Charles' passing. He touched many lives and was an influence for good. He loved the Lord and the community we call the Church. As a Christian we know that to be absent from the body is to be present with the Lord. To Suzy and family may God's love, grace, hope, peace and mercy be with you. So long to our good friend Charles.
