“ I have meet Eric when i got married to Sherman Goodman his best friend.I have memory of him when we get together during Sherman's Band practice and he came along with us to sing a song. He has a nice voice besides his a good looking guy too :) During Christmas time we use to call Eric and greet him Merry Christmas and pretend we take him on ride as we go to see X'mas lights. We have fun and Eric enjoy it so much like as we pretend again to drop him off on his house and say buy. Its so amazing the last time i clean my room and stuff i saw Eric's number and i start calling him but he dont answer my call so i give it to Sherman his number cuz he lost it before. Last 2 weeks Eric called back my number and i answer it but thats the last time i heard his voice "Hello" He called Sherman too but he turn off his ring tone. Im so glad that i found his number and we did call him ..truly i believe he always think about us and thats why i called him. We never expect that was his last time of call. We truly missed him a lot his a good guy and so loyal to his love ones. Eric we missed you and love you our friend forever. Rest peacefully Eric ..May God Bless your soul. Good night my friend and thanks for the memories.

“ I just found out it is like being kicked hard. I think sometimes we are blessed by the light of a flashing star that streaks through our hearts and lives and then as soon as it flashes it disappears leaving us wanting more and missing its brilliance I hope god will hold him and those of us left behind looking for reasons why in his arms until we find peace. I will carry a heavy heart and memories from this day forward good by my friend I hope you will find peace that sometimes alludes us hear on earth. Eric got me hooked on fishing and was the best fisherman I ever knew you never had to ask twice about going fishing he was truly in his element. Fishing only took a back seat to the love he had for his wife and children. He loved his parents and was devastated when his best friend and father passed I am sure they already have a line in and are still trying to catch the biggest and the most. Sharron I Hope you will find peace you were always the open arms that comforted him. Please call 9515673987 let me know

“ I fell in love with Eric when I was 16, we kind of grew up together, he loved his parents and had such a close relationship with them especially dwain, he was a really rare and genuine guy who had a wonderful heart, unfortunately we grew apart but he will always have a special place in my heart as the father of my two children, who he loved with all his heart and I will always think of Sharon as my 2nd mother, she loved him so much and was there for him through the worst times, when nobody else was, I know he's at peace now up in heaven bass fishing with Dwain, his dad and best friend, RIP Eric ,you will never be forgotten.

“ Eric was the type of person that people likes to be with. He was kind, witty, sarcastic, loving, always joking, and a good listener. This is how I'll always remember him. He married my sister when I was 10 years old and he, like his family, welcomed my mother and I into their family. Erik had a genuineness about him that I would later learn he likely got from his mother and father. I have so many wonderful memories of Eric. Many of them involved watching him cook. He loved to cook and he was happy in the kitchen. The last time I talked to Eric it was a 3 hour conversation. We caught up on life- talked about my growing family and about his kids. He, like all dads, worried about his kids. And he told me about his hopes and dreams for each of them. He told me about a few of his latest movie ideas (of which he had many) and we reminisced about when we were all in one place. I'm so thankful for that conversation. I never knew it would be our last. Eric is gone from this earth but never from our hearts and minds. He loved all of the people in his life and made lasting impressions on many of us. He was my brother-in-law but I always felt like he was my brother. I love you Eric- thank you for all of the kindness. Thank you for being family to me when I needed one the most. Thank you for leaving us your two beautiful children. Thank you for teaching me: to cook, about good music, sarcasm, and introducing me to awesome comedy. You will be missed but never forgotten. My condolences to the rest of the family. Love you all.

“ It is impossible to put into words how special a friendship with Eric could be. Eric was more of a brother than a friend to those who knew him well. To his family I give my deepest condolences and will pray that God may send you many blessings in this time of loss. I will truly be poorer without his friendship, though he has truly left me with a wealth of uniquely fond memories. Eric, you will be missed and remembered often. Catch ya on the flip side Catfish
