“ I didn't grow up in the household when my mom was married to Jeff, but I do have some very good memories with Jeff. I remember walking in the house and seeing him sitting at the dinner table in his shorts, shirt unbuttoned (always) and boots on with his hair sticking straight up on his head, I immediately cracked up; he didn't care, that was Jeff. I remember him letting me fix his hair and OF course it looked more ridiculous than it did before I started, he didn't care, that was Jeff. Jeff also taught me how to drive a stick shift, that was fun. I did talk to him a couple of months ago, and I only wish I had OF done it more often. Jeff you were a good man, a funny man, and I will miss you. I love you. Dana

“ Some of my earliest and best memories are of you, my brother. Later you taught me how to drive in your old 56 Chevy, took me drag racing, took me to my first real school dance and brought home your wounded Viet Nam buddies for a good home cooked meal. So many memories. I love you my brother, and my heart hurts with losing you.

“ I knew Jeff for about 40 years I guess, we never lived near each other but always made a point to visit when able to. He visited me a couple of times at my home in Arizona. We always had a good time. I always respected Jeff for his honesty, (I don't think he ever told a lie to anybody) If you asked him he told you, no matter if it was what you wanted to hear or not. He was the kind of person who was always willing to help others when in need. Jeff was a simple man, not ever influenced by money or material things only love of life and family. The kind of man we should all aspire to be. I know his family will be comforted in that. Jeff, you'll be missed by all that knew you.

“ You were my first (and best) brother in law. We made a great pair. We could get in trouble just looking at one another. Rest in peace, I will see you again one day in glory.
