“ When my sister, Norma, and I were about 6 to 8 years old, our Uncle Romie visited our family while we were living in Fort Smith. Uncle Romie loved to go to the movie theater and he always took Norma and I with him. Saturdays were double feature days with one of the features being a Western, usually. Once you bought your ticket for admission, you could stay and watch the movies as many times as you wished, for they were shown continuously with no intermissions or breaks. We always enjoyed each movie at least twice before heading home. To Norma and I it seemed we always had a wonderful time sharing the entire afternoon with our fun-loving and handsome Uncle Romie. Those were the days!
