“ Shocking news to hear. Bill, Rodney and Susie please know that we are thinking of you. Red was so helpful to our Mom and Dad. Helped when he could even though he had his own work to do. He was a dear Cousin and I will miss him very much. Red, Rest now. You have earned it. Someone else will take your watch. As we always ended our conversations on the phone, Love you Cousin.

“ Always laughing always smiling! That’s how I’ll remember Red! Proud to call him a relative and a friend! One of the last true personalities of our community! One of the hardest working men I’ve ever known! Dawn to Dusk in the hay fields! Rest now! Gone but never forgotten!

“ If I had a nickel for every Red story, I'd be a millionaire. Can't think of a time when he wasn't smiling or laughing, even if it was something mischievous he was up to. Every time I came back for a visit, I would honk when going by his house (just to make him wonder who was honking... LOL) I know I'll keep that tradition going in his memory. RIP "Wed..."
